WASILLY KANDINSKY

Wassily Kandinsky was a special artist who liked to use lots of colors and shapes in his paintings. But the interesting thing was that he didn't always paint things we could recognize, like people or animals. Instead, he painted feelings and music! He thought that art could make people feel happy or excited just by looking at it.

Kandinsky's art was like a colorful dance on the canvas, and he was one of the first artists to do this. So, he's famous for using colors and shapes to make people feel different emotions through his art.
